THE AUSTRALIAN CLUB

The Australian Club - Technology Table

with David Bartlett, Former Premier of Tasmania

" Digital Futures "

Mr David Bartlett

Does high-speed broadband really just amount to faster downloads? Or is there something special happening here? David will discuss the implications of ubiquitous high speed broadband and its impact on the way we create wealth, communicate with our customers and solve old and wicked problems.

Ubiquitous high-speed broadband and associated digital technologies have wide reaching and significant ramifications for every business, organization and region of Australia. There are both great opportunities and significant threats to be understood and exploited. Not every region will attract a global data centre or be the next Silicon Valley - so what is in it for all of us? Many industry sectors and Australian businesses do not understand the transformations that ubiquitous connectivity is driving. Former Premier and digital futures specialist David Bartlett will discuss these topics and the need for Australian industry leaders and boards to act now.

David Bartlett was Premier of Tasmania 2008 - 2011. He was also Minister for Innovation, Science & Technology, Minister for Education & Skills, Minister for Planning & Workplace Relations, Attorney General.

David is now a Director of Explor Consulting and Chairman of Asdeq Labs (a technology startup building enterprise mobility solutions and currently expanding operations into the US) bringing a unique perspective to discussions about broadband and the future of government service delivery. David is a Senior Advisor to the Nous Group and on the advisory board for the Centre for New Public Education.
